CEO Executive Leadership Team:
During the global pandemic and fake news...

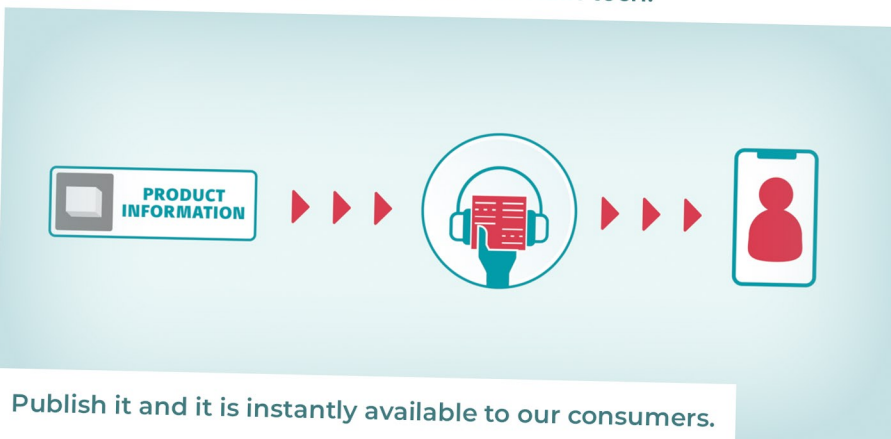

CEO: How can we bring relevant information to consumers that as things changes we can instantly update?

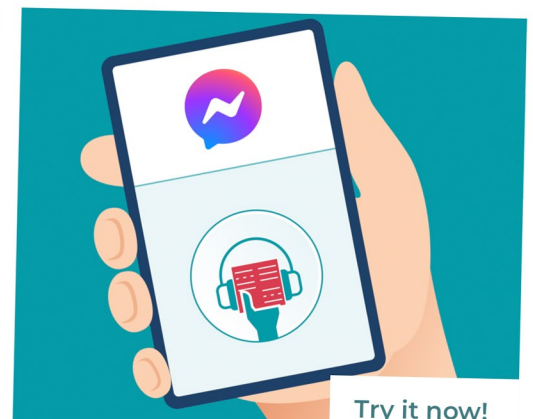

CEO: And I hear 50% of people use voice to access the internet. How can our customers listen to our info in their own language?

Becky: I heard of this from a colleague, "Read It To Me" can help us upload and manage product information... And whats even better is we are in control of OUR data. So we can focus our resources on creating better content, not on how to launch and maintain tech.

Publish it and it is instantly available to our consumers.
